To whom this may concern,

Corinthian Industries has 400 employees nationally in Australia, with another 400 employees throughout the South East Asian region. Corinthian is the largest door manufacturer in the South East Asian region. We were approached by Choice Training Solutions in regards to training they could offer which was specific to our operational needs.

They greatly assisted us with the paper work and the 'up take' of the training with our staff. Also, their response to remedy some minor issues that occurred early on was commendable. Their training has assisted us in various ways, including a more efficient work process, company culture and better work responsibility taken on by the staff.

As a result of the positive outcomes we are currently investigating rolling out the program nationally, which will assist us in standardising our procedures,

And further improve efficiencies. Corinthian has been very satisfied with Choice Training Solutions professional training and 'partnership' support mentality.

We have no hesitation recommending their professional services to any company seeking to improve their production processes and staff performance and attitudes.

Yours sincerely,

James Thomson
